L. 94-437), the Indian Health Care Improvement Act, as amended, including the permanent reauthorization and amendments in Section 10221 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act, Pub. L. 111-148, which incorporated by reference, as amended by Section 10221, S. 1790 as reported by the Senate Committee on Indian Affairs in December 2009 and directives and circulars of the United States Department of Health and Human Services, Public Health Service, Indian Health Service, and Alaska Area Native Health Service.

Sec. 1.10.020. Scope. The Community Health Aide Program Certification Board sets standards for the community health aide program and certifies individuals as community health aides and practitioners, dental health aides (including primary dental health aides, dental health aide hygienists, expanded function dental health aides, and dental health aide therapists), and behavioral health aides and practitioners. Each of these individuals is subject to specific requirements and engages in a specific scope of practice set forth in these Standards. For historical reasons, these various health aides are often referred to generically as “community health aides.”

Article 40. Findings

41
42
43 History: November 26, 2002, Article 40 was added.
44

45 Sec. 1.40.010. Findings. The Community Health Aide Program Certification Board makes the 46 following findings.
47

- 48 (1) The community health aide program was established to provide for training of health 49 aides and practitioners and to maintain a system in which the health aides can relate to other health 50 professionals while providing health care, health promotion and disease prevention services in rural 51 Alaska.
52 (2) The community health aide program was authorized by Congress to promote the

Community Health Aide Program Certification Board – Standards and Procedures
Amended September 12, 2019

1 achievement of the health status objectives in the Indian Health Care Improvement Act in rural Alaska.
2 These objectives are broad in scope and address virtually every aspect of health care, access, delivery, and 3 status. Specialized training (medical, dental and behavioral health) and certification furthers those 4 objectives by creating opportunities for community health aides to focus their training and practice on 5 particular health issues and delivery strategies. Regardless of the specific title everyone certified under the 6 community health aide program has the same basic responsibility: to improve health status among Alaska
7 Natives living in rural Alaska.

8 (3) The need for the community health aide has not diminished – most villages in Alaska
9 still have no health provider in the community other than a community health aide or community health
10 practitioner. Although the infant mortality rate has diminished over the past 20 years, diabetes mellitus
11 has increased by 110%, compared to 23% for the United States all races; the unintentional injury death
12 rate of Alaska Natives is 4.5 times the rate for the United States; health status of rural Alaska Natives is 13 closely related to low socio-economic status and 24% of Alaska Natives live below the poverty level
14 compared to 13.1% for United States all races.

15 (4) The community health aide program has become a model for efficient and high quality 16 health care delivery in rural Alaska providing approximately 300,000 patient encounters per year and 17 responding to emergencies twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week.

18 (5) The existing community health aide program is over-taxed with persistently high rates 19 of turnover among community health aides and practitioners.

20 (6) The curriculum for training community health aides and practitioners and the CHAM
21 have always included dental care; however other demands on community health aides and practitioners 22 have resulted largely in only emergency dental services to relieve immediate pain being available.

23 (7) Only 29% of Alaska Native children and even fewer adults have had access to dental 24 care resulting in epidemic caries among children and loss of teeth among adults and elders.

25 (8) The Alaska Area Native Health Service, the Department of Health and Human 26 Services, and tribal health organizations recognize the strong connection between dental health and 27 physical health, including that caries is an infectious and contagious disease, which can result in pain, 28 infection and diminishment of nutritional and digestive health.

29 (9) Shortages in the number of dentists nationally and in Alaska have resulted in high 30 turnover among rural dentists (about 30%) and nearly a quarter of the dental positions in rural Alaska
31 being unfilled resulting in available dental care in rural Alaska to being limited principally to only 32 emergency services.

33 (10) This Board and the Alaska Area Native Health Service, together with Alaska tribal 34 health organizations, have agreed that improvements in dental health among Alaska Natives requires 35 health providers dedicated to dental preventive and acute care and that specialized training under the 36 community health aide program of community health aides, who will be called dental health aides and 37 who will limit their practice to dental care, is required to improve dental health status in rural Alaska.

38 (11) Approximately 58 percent of the Alaska Native population lives in small communities
39 that have limited or no direct access to behavioral health services (Alaska Native Tribal Health 40 Consortium, 2004 Rural Behavioral Health Needs Assessment Final Report, p. 4).

41 (12) Staff turnover is a barrier to maintaining access to behavioral health services in 42 villages (id., at p. 5).

43 (13) Despite improvements in the rate of deaths among Alaska Natives from many other 44 causes, in the period 1980 to 1998, the rate of alcohol-related deaths increased (Alaska Area Native
45 Health Service and Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, Alaska Native Mortality 1980-1998, June 46 2001, p. 4).

47 (14) In the period 1996-1998, three of the five leading causes of Alaska Native deaths were 48 related to behavioral health conditions; unintentional injuries for which the age-adjusted death rate of 49 Alaska Natives was 101.5 compared to 30.1 U.S. all races, alcohol-related for which the age-adjusted 50 death rate was 54.2 compared to 6.1, and suicide for which the same rate was 44.5 compared to 10.4 (id., 51 at p. 7).

1 (15) The Fetal Alcohol Syndrome “prevalence rate among Alaska Natives (4.8) is three and 2 a half times that for All Alaskans (1.4) and at least seven times the high end of the national rate of .1 to 3 .7” (Alaska Native Tribal Health Consortium, Alaska Natives: Key Facts, August 2002, p. 6).

4 (16) “The suicide attempt rate for Alaska Native males, ages 15-19, is 5.6 times (1565) that 5 of Alaska males, ages 15-19 (275)...and for Alaska Native females, ages 15-19, is four times (3627) that 6 of Alaska females, ages 15-19 (886)” (id., p. 5).

7 (17) “Alaska Native children represent 49 percent of the custody children sent to out-of-8 state placements....” (Alaska Department of Health and Social Services, Division of Behavioral Health, 9 Bring the Kids Home Annual Report, December 2005). This constitutes a rate more than two times higher 10 than their representation in the general population;

11 (18) The Healthy People 2020 objectives, broadly and deeply address behavioral health 12 issues including injury and violence prevention, mental health, quality of life and well-being, social 13 determinants of health, substance abuse and tobacco, along with behavioral health considerations for each 14 stage of life.

15 (19) This Board and the Alaska Area Native Health Service, together with Alaska tribal 16 health organizations, have agreed that improvements in behavioral health among Alaska Natives requires 17 village-based health providers dedicated to behavioral health prevention and treatment and that 18 specialized training under the community health aide program of community health aides, who will be 19 called behavioral health aides and practitioners and who will limit their practice to behavioral health, is 20 required to improve behavioral health status in rural Alaska.

22 (a) Findings. Standardized assessment measures, which may include written or oral testing and other 23 standardized practice activities such as role playing, may be useful devices for evaluating the knowledge and skills

25 knowledge and skills required. This requires that the tests be culturally sensitive and not biased towards unrelated 26 skills, such as reading in English (except when that is the skill being tested). Requiring candidates for certification 27 who have been practicing for some time to take the tests will allow measuring the outcomes of the tests against the 28 assessment of the actual practice skills of the candidates.
29

30 (b) Requirements. All applicants for certification as a behavioral health aide or practitioner must take 31 the Trial Behavioral Health Aide/Practitioner examination applicable to the level of certification for which the 32 applicant is applying, provided that

37 (3) the results of the trial examination shall not be considered when evaluating the applicant's
